SERIALS REVIEW

...a must for those involved in serials evaluation and selection.

"...all of it is well done, and much of it is first-rate,....Every academic librarian, not just serials librarians, will find something of interest in it. It should not only be available in all academic libraries, but it should probably be routed to the library staff."

CHOICE

Serials Review is a quarterly review of, and guide to, serial publications of all kinds, brimming with current reviews, articles, and other regular and special features. SR's primary aim is to evaluate periodicals, newspapers, almanacs, directories, indexes, periodical bibliographies, and other reviewing tools as well as any literature which is designed to support collection evaluation and development.

Each issue of Serials Review is now theme oriented and provides substantial review coverage of serials covering a particular subject. Upcoming issues will review business, literary, and ethnic periodicals.

SR entertains while it informs readers with regular and special features on ... government publications ... subject & regional surveys ... little magazines ... cumulative indexes ... newsletters ... newspapers in review ... review sources ... tools of the serials trade ... union lists ... indexed periodicals ... and more.

When faced with the task of building, strengthening, or reducing a serials collection, consult Serials Review for concise, intelligent reviews of current serial publications. Subscribe to Serials Review today!

Introduction

This cumulative index covers the first five volumes of Serials Review. All regular columns were indexed, including "Tools of the Serials Trade," which routinely reviews monographs as well as serials. It is a title index, with cross references from the author(s).

The format is title; beginning date for serials or date of publication for monographs; volume and number; and beginning page. In cases where the date was lacking or conflicting, the information was obtained from the CONSER/KWOC microfiche index.

The entries are arranged in letter-by-letter sequence, with initialisms first. Capitalization has been standardized (e.g. WomanSpirit becomes WOMANSPIRIT).

CONSUMERS INDEX . . .

for the discriminating buyer

Whether you're interested in purchasing the finest wine, the most economical automobile, or the most efficient home appliance, look in Consumers Index to Product Evaluations and Information Sources before you make your selection.

Consumers Index is your guide to product tests and evaluations found in more than 100 magazines including:

Backpacker,
FDA Consumer,
Motor Trend,
Consumer Reports, and Stereo Review.

All products are indexed by brand name and model and are assigned codes indicating product test, product evaluation, or description. Products and articles are grouped within 14 easy-to-use categories including:

Food, Beverage and Tobacco,
 The Home,
 Sight & Sound,
 Sports, Recreation and Hobbies, and Transportation.

Consumers Index appears quarterly with an annual clothbound cumulation also available. A subscription to Consumers Index quarterlies is only $59.00 / yr.; the annual, $59.00 /yr. Order both the quarterlies and the annual and pay only $98.00 – a savings of nearly 15%.

Consumers Index is the discriminating buyer's indispensable guide to product evaluations and information sources.

Media Spectrum v3 n2, 1976

Media Review Digest, now in its tenth year, has grown steadily to become what it is today – the core media reference tool and standard catalog of media information. MRD stands alone as the most complete annual index to and digest of reviews, evaluations, and descriptions of all forms of non-book media appearing in over 150 periodicals and reviewing services.

In addition to its obvious value as a guide to reviews of software, Media Review Digest functions in its own right as: 1) a previewing and purchasing aid, 2) a guide to various media forms, 3) a cataloging and classification tool, and 4) an extensive catalog of media and producer information.

MRD is unequalled due to the quality, scope, and thoroughness of its coverage. It boasts brief descriptions and subject cataloging of most of the educational items covered, as well as excerpts from the reviews themselves. A list of MRD's most important features follows:

COMPREHENSIVE COVERAGE ...

60,000 + citations & cross-references to reviews of the following media forms:
 educational & feature films videocassettes
 filmstrips
 educational records & tapes

index to free periodicals

INDEX TO FREE PERIODICALS

is an invaluable companion to the READERS' GUIDE TO PERIODICAL LITERATURE which directs you to the contents of the finest free periodicals.

The Index to Free Periodicals has been designed to supplement the Readers' Guide in the following ways:

Like the Readers' Guide, IFP covers carefully selected periodicals that contain material of value to a wide audience - from the university to the branch library patron.

Like the Readers' Guide, IFP covers all subject areas from chemistry and medicine to art and history, from solar energy to classical music, from the high cost of health care to glass blowing, from juvenile delinquency to air-pollution, and much more.

Like the Readers' Guide, IFP is one of the few indexes providing an author, title, and subject approach.

Like the Readers' Guide, IFP indicates illustrations, charts, portraits, maps, and other special features of articles.

UNLIKE the Readers' Guide, the periodicals selected for indexing in IFP are FREE TO LIBRARIES!

The periodicals selected for indexing represent the best in editorial and/or graphic content. Balanced coverage encompasses the humanities, social sciences, science, and technology.

The Index is designed for use in schools, colleges, and all types of libraries. IFP provides a major information base for small libraries and branches and adds a new dimension to the collections of larger libraries at a minimal cost.

OPEN THE DOOR TO A WORLD OF FREE INFORMATION BY SUBSCRIBING TO IFP!

INDEX TO FREE PERIODICALS

Published semi-annually. Subscription: $25/yr. Single issue: $15. Back issues are available.

MEDIA REVIEW DIGEST

MRD, now in its tenth year, stands alone as the most complete annual index to and digest of reviews, evaluations, and descriptions of all forms of non-book media appearing in over 170 periodicals and reviewing services. Coverage includes feature films, brief descriptions and subject cataloging of most of the educational items, complete mediagraphic data, book reviews, film awards and prizes, 60,000+ citations and cross-references to reviews, as well as excerpts from the reviews themselves.

"It is recommended that all libraries purchasing non-book materials and servicing users of such information subscribe to Media Review Digest."

—Choice
MRD 1979 (Volume 9) - $120. (annual & supplement)

CONSUMERS INDEX

Consumers Index to Product Evaluations and Information Sources cites articles, product tests, and evaluations from more than 100 periodicals, guiding consumers to information which is helpful in choosing the best products and services for their money. All products are listed by brand name and model within 14 easy-to-use sections, brief annotations describe the general articles of consumer interest, and a Subject Index provides quick access to product information.

"...a rewarding source of information for academic research and for the community at large."

REFERENCE SERVICES REVIEW

RSR assists librarians in the ongoing evaluation of reference collections, reviewing and evaluating a wide variety of publications that have reference value within general, academic, and special library settings. RSR provides reference librarians and subject bibliographers with the information essential to discerning and judicious book selection, as well as guidance in the use of existing reference sources. Features include surveys of the best reference tools in various fields, comparative reviews of basic reference sources, and evaluations of pivotal reference works.

"...a basic review source for any library...No library, regardless of type, can afford not to subscribe to the review."

BEST BUYS IN PRINT

BBIP is a quarterly guide to quality books available at discount prices from remainder houses and publishing companies. This year, while libraries face crippling budget cuts, BBIP will provide access to an estimated 20,000 different titles at an average discount of 65%, or more! The selection is extensive and includes quality art books, university press titles, current fiction, non-fiction, and a wide range of other sale-priced books which are not listed in Books In Print.

"Many of the books are quite recent and would make excellent additions to library collections...If you buy lots of books and have a tight budget, you may find Best Buys In Print a savior."

INDEX TO FREE PERIODICALS

IFP is a semi-annual publication which directs the user to the contents of the finest of free periodicals. It provides a major information base for small libraries and branches and adds a new dimension to the collections of larger libraries at a minimal cost. The subjects covered are wide-ranging, special features of articles are indicated, and indexes provide author, title, and subject access.

"While smaller libraries may find the index a door to volumes of free information, larger libraries will find the tool most useful as a guide to articles reflecting governmental or corporate viewpoints."
